LETTER OF RECOGNITION

Community Disability Support Workers are essential to the lives of people with disabilities. Many of the individuals they support have significant and multiple disabilities requiring partial to total assistance with all aspects of daily living.

From personal care responsibilities such as cooking, cleaning, and administering medications to supporting employment, community connections and family relationships, multiple skill sets are required. Disability Support Workers do all these tasks for clients and more.

The City of Calgary celebrates Community Disability Service Workers Appreciation Week May 20-26, 2024, and recognizes the dedicated and hardworking employees of this essential profession.
